

STATUS OF PROJECTS IN EXECUTION–FY08

AFRICA REGION

COUNTRY: KENYA

Operations Policy and Country Services
October 11, 2008

Introduction

The Status of Projects in Execution (SOPE) Report for FY08 provides information on all IBRD/IDA projects that were active as of June 30, 2008. For the first time, the SOPE report will include recipient-executed projects (over US$ 5 million). The World Bank has issued a SOPE Report every year as an internal communication to the Board of Executive Directors. In accordance with the Bank's revised disclosure policy, since FY02, the SOPE Report is available to the public.

The report is intended to bridge the gap in information available to the public between the Project Appraisal Document or Program Document, disclosed after the Bank approves a project, and the Implementation Completion Report, disclosed after the project closes.

In addition to the project progress description, the FY08 SOPE report¹ contains project level comparisons of disbursement estimates and actual disbursements, and a table showing the loan/credit/grant amount and disbursements to date.

- Amounts and graphs for loans/credits/grants in currencies other than U.S. dollars may not match exactly due to exchange rate fluctuations over the life of the project.
- Graphs of original estimates for some recipient-executed projects might not exist since they are not required in the project document.
- Disbursement graphs are not included for Development Policy Operations, which provide quick-disbursing financing to support policy and institutional reforms. For these operations, funds are disbursed in one or more stages (tranches), released when the borrower complies with agreed prior actions.
- Projects which are not yet effective may not have a planned disbursement schedule and thus will not include a graph.

Project Name (ID): KE-GEF W KE Int Ecosys Mgmt SIL (FY05) (P072981)

Country: Kenya

Board Approval Date: 03/01/2005

Closing Date: 06/30/2010

Loan/Credit/Grant Number: TF-51024, TF-54250

Sector(s): General agriculture, fishing and forestry sector (67%), Agricultural extension and research (15%), Sub-national government administration (10%), Other social services (5%), Central government administration (3%)

Theme(s): Biodiversity (P), Environmental policies and institutions (S), Climate change (S), Participation and civic engagement (S), Other rural development (S)

Project Development Objectives:

The project will pilot the improved productivity and sustainability of land use systems in selected watersheds in the Nzoia, Yala and Nyando river basins.

Progress toward achieving development objective(s):

The project is slower than expected in meeting the development objectives, however, improvements have been registered after the productivity of the land use systems was increased. Progress is being made in terms of increasing the number of community groups participating in land management planning and adopting improved ecosystem management technologies to one fourth of the targeted number. Also, the number of community participatory action plans increased to a quarter of its target, with 1,480 sub-projects having been implemented. Furthermore, two thirds of the expected baseline data for biophysical and socioeconomic monitoring and impact assessments have been established.

Theme(s): Participation and civic engagement (P), Other social protection and risk management (P), Natural disaster management (P), Land administration and management (S), Water resource management (S)

Project Development Objectives:

Empower local communities of men and women to engage in sustainable and wealth creating livelihood activities and reduce their vulnerability to flooding.

Progress toward achieving development objective(s):

The project is off to a good start with the following achievements in the first year of its implementation: District Steering Groups have been established and have undergone training in all the districts. Capacity Building Workshops for Mobile Advisory Teams were held in 10 Districts, who are now operational and are being trained in Participatory Integrated Community Development aimed at assisting local communities to generate project action plans. About 20 sites for hydrological gauges along River Nzoia have been identified and gauges installed with 15 monitors trained and assigned to monitor the gauging stations. Flood diagnostics and forecasting is fully operational with three members of the flood early warning team working full time and is now producing a monthly floods diagnostic bulletin; establishment of Water users associations is completed. About 60 target communities have been identified for receiving support under the CDD component based on their poverty profiles; the GIS database established shows all the communities in the project area with relevant geo-indexed household points ready for use. The design of the MIS is complete and training and implementation is scheduled for July and August 2008.

Project Development Objectives:

The objective of the second phase is to enhance food security, reduce livelihood vulnerability and improve access to basic services in 28 drought prone arid and semiarid districts in Kenya.

Progress toward achieving development objective(s):

The project is demonstrating significant progress towards achieving its development objective. Continued attention to increasing access to social services such as education, health care, and water supply has paid dividends. Innovative approaches piloted by the project, such as nomadic education, are being mainstreamed. The community-driven development (CDD) component has completed 1,909 micro-projects in 523 communities in phase two. This year, emphasis has been placed on capacity building within these communities to improve their accountability and fiduciary controls. The drought management system is effectively addressing all phases of drought at national, district and community levels, with early warning system, contingency funding and emergency response working well. Key results have been measured as follows: (a) decreasing proportion of people in each arid and semi-arid land district assessed as needing free food aid - 9 of 28 districts completely off food-aid this year; (b) reduced time lapse between reported stress and response, including recovery time - from 6 months to 1 month; (c) improved child nutritional status over time, normalized by severity of drought numbers in arid districts - all 11 have improved except Turkana and Garissa, and in semi-arid districts - all 11 improved except Tharaka and West Pokot; and (d) increased number of people with access to social services: distance to water, school, health center has halved.

Loan/Credit/Grant Number: IDA-H0650, IDA-Q3370

Sector(s): Central government administration (70%), Vocational training (30%)

Theme(s): Education for the knowledge economy (P)

Project Development Objectives:

The project objective is to test the effectiveness and sustainability of a development learning centre (DLC) in Kenya.

The project was restructured, or received Additional Financing during FY 08

The newly revised Project Development Objective aims to improve the capacity of public servants, private individuals and institutions in specific public sector management areas targeted by the development learning center (DLC). Following the recommendation from the mid-term review, the project was restructured on October 19, 2007. The first level restructuring revised the project's DO and the results framework. The project's closing date was also extended to June 30, 2010 (from December 31, 2008), and the percentage of expenditures to be financed under Part B of the project revised.

Progress toward achieving development objective(s):

Overall, progress toward achieving the development objectives have been good and substantial. The Bank and the government agreed that substantial progress have been made on the key actions agreed during the mid-term review. The Financial Management Review (FMR) concluded that FM arrangements are adequate and continue to provide reasonable assurance that Bank funds are being used for their intended purposes. Given some post-election factors, the timetable for agreed actions has been revisited, revalidated, and adjusted, as required. The next 12 months will be critical for the Center to ensure that the key elements are in place to make it fully operational and financially sustainable.

Project Development Objectives:

The objective is to expand the coverage of targeted HIV and AIDS prevention and mitigation interventions.

Progress toward achieving development objective(s):

The project is gaining momentum after a slow start. All implementation arrangements are now in place, with over $19 million disbursed, activities have now started. Formal launch of the project at the regional level is planned as part of the forthcoming national annual Joint HIV and AIDS Program review. A National AIDS Control Council work plan for the fiscal year 2008/09, with IDA funded activities clearly identified, has been prepared. In terms of the Grant Awards to civil society organizations (CSOs), the Financial Management Agent is reviewing the financial management capacity of selected CSOs and is signing contracts with the successful organizations. The project includes substantial co-funding from the British Department for International Development (DFID) through IDA, in addition to the $80 million of IDA support. DFID contribution will be available in the later stages of the project.

Project Development Objectives:

The objective is to support generation, dissemination, and adoption of agricultural technology.

Progress toward achieving development objective(s):

The project is progressing well towards achieving its development objectives. High yielding crop varieties have been released and adopted by farmers. This contributed towards an increase in crop yields and agricultural exports. More timely and appropriate extension services is being provided to farmers through public and private service providers. And the capacity for farmers to demand services has been enhanced.

Theme(s): Trade facilitation and market access (P), Infrastructure services for private sector development (P), Regulation and competition policy (P), Regional integration (S), Administrative and civil service reform (S)

Project Development Objectives:

The objectives are to: (a) increase efficiency of road transport along the Northern Corridor to facilitate trade and regional integration; (b) enhance aviation safety and security to meet international standards; and (c) promote private sector participation in the management, financing and maintenance of road assets.

Progress toward achieving development objective(s):

Overall, Project is progressing well toward achieving the development objectives.

In the Roads sub sector, travel time on Mombasa-Nairobi section has been reduced by 33%. However travel time from Nairobi to Western Kenya has increased by 40% due to the poor state of the Northern Corridor in this region which comprise the unfunded road contracts under the project for which the Government has requested additional financing.

The government has adopted a comprehensive road policy and approved the new Kenya Roads Act, 2007, which, allows the setting up of three autonomous road authorities, namely, National Highways Authority, Rural Roads Authority, and the Urban Roads Authority. A policy has been adopted to involve private sector in the management of weigh stations in the country and control overloading of trucks and also ban the use of 4 axles on trucks using Kenyan roads in line with the agreed Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa (COMESA) protocol.

Aviation sub sector: Security at major airports enhanced with the recruitment of key staff, completion of the security fence at Jomo Kenyatta International Airport, procurement of baggage and passenger screening equipment, the deployment of the paramilitary unit (General Service Unit) personnel patrols and heightened surveillance around the airports, and key airport installations. Kenya Civil Aviation Authority (KCAA) has established an airport security oversight unit which is responsible for monitoring security issues and ensuring compliance with security regulations.

Theme(s): Regulation and competition policy (P), Access to urban services and housing (P), Corporate governance (S), Infrastructure services for private sector development (S), State enterprise/bank restructuring and privatization (S)

Project Development Objectives:

The project's objectives are to (a) enhance the policy, institutional and regulatory environment for private sector participation and sector development: (b) support efficient expansion of power generation capacity to meet the economy's projected supply deficits by FY2006/07; and (c) increase access to electricity in urban and peri-urban areas while improving the efficiency, reliability and quality of service to existing customers.

Progress toward achieving development objective(s):

Progress toward meeting the development objectives has been good. The Energy Regulatory Commission and the Rural Electrification Authority became operational, and following completion of policy studies financed under the project, Government has continued power sector restructuring to ease the entry of private participants. In addition, electricity tariffs increased to cost recovery level and the construction of the 35 MW geothermal generation plant has started. The private management services provider, Kenya Power and Lighting Company Ltd. (KPLC) connected 105,000 new consumers to the grid and reduced network losses. KPLC also installed 67,110 of the 400,000 energy meters financed under the project. The civil unrest after the December 2007 elections caused minor damage to electricity infrastructure and delayed implementation and reduced electricity sales. Electricity sales have since recovered.

Project Development Objectives:

The Project aims to increase productivity and employment in participating micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs).

Progress toward achieving development objective(s):

Achievement of the project's development objectives is slow but significant positive impact was experienced by micro and commercial finance institutions; micro, small and medium enterprises; farmers in the coffee and cotton value chains; and three universities. Progress is slow in meeting targets for three components and the pyrethrum value chain. Preparation work is ongoing for an upcoming mid-term review.

Project Development Objectives:

The project's objective is to establish a sustainable national statistical system to provide reliable, timely, and accurate data in accordance with international standards.

Progress toward achieving development objective(s):

Progress toward achieving the development objectives has been good. Some developments have taken place affecting the implementation of Kenya's national statistical system: (1) The Kenya National Bureau of Statistics (KNBS) Board was established in July 2007, and has held six regular meetings to discuss issues relating to managing the transition as KNBS moves towards semi-autonomy; (2) The Government's willingness and commitment to develop statistics sector has remained strong and stable, as evidenced in the enactment and operationalization of the Statistics Act 2006, and continued increase in the budget allocation to statistical activities; (3) A consultancy firm contracted to work on de-linking of KNBS from Ministry of Planning and National Development (MPND) has completed and handed its reports to KNBS Board. Based on the recommendation of the consultant's report, KNBS Board is in the final process of selecting a Director General. The Board has also advertized positions for the six directorates of KNBS.

Project Development Objectives:

The objective is to provide basic education and improve the quality of education for all children by 2010.

Progress toward achieving development objective(s):

The Project became effective in March 2007. Progress is being made towards achieving the project development objectives. Strategies for secondary, TIVET and university sub-sectors are now available. The pupil-textbook ratio was on target at 3:1 for lower primary and 2:1 for upper primary in academic year 2007 (ending in December). The primary education share of Ministry of Education recurrent budget declined slightly from 57 percent in 2006/07 to 55 percent in 2007/08 due to increasing focus on secondary education, and within the budget for primary education the budget for non-salary expenditure was maintained at 15 percent in 2007/08. There has also been progress in the sector in the areas of school mapping and analysis of learning outcomes. The Kenya National Examinations Council has prepared a national assessment framework for the systematic assessment of learning outcomes. Analysis of the numbers entering the Kenya National Examinations Council shows a modest rising trend in test scores. However, since the post-election crisis in January-February 2008, there is concern that some of the achievements might be at risk. New data to update the performance indicators will be derived from the provisional 2007 EMIS figures. There is an ongoing review of the impact of the post-election crisis on the education sector. The Ministry of Education has requested support for reforming the secondary school bursary scheme, and will likely require additional assistance in other areas of education.

The development objectives of the project are to: (a) strengthen public financial management systems, and (ii) to enhance transparency, accountability, and responsiveness to public expenditure policy priorities as well as the effective implementation of Results Based Management.

Progress toward achieving development objective(s):

The project has made good progress in achieving its public financial management objectives. Financial management and management of procurement and information flows on the program have improved; annual audits are being executed on time and the Risk Based Internal Audit Approach has been adopted and ministerial audit committees established. The Parliamentary Finance Committee has been reconstituted following the general elections and the project is planning to provide capacity building support to it. A new training plan has been developed and approved. A revised project work plan is in place.
